September, 2011

Editorial

QMAR is intended to make health family and other stakeholders who require health data use the routine data for planning, monitoring and designing effective interventions. Since the last issue of the QMAR, Volume IV, Issue I, we presented the data program wise for easy referencing and trend analysis. We hope that these data are used for evidence based planning at program as well as district level.

Critical analysis of the data content among readers can lead to much improved recording, reporting system and benefit the country as a whole in collecting important information and using them at all levels.

We also encourage all the readers to use the data and also give us feedback on the data content for us to improve further.
